ABSTRACT

Every human being cannot be separated from their needs, especially those that are basic. Because, the needs of every individual human are closely related and affect their survival, if a person's basic needs are not met, then she/he will be difficult to maintain his/her life and reach a higher level of need. A person must meet her/his needs so that the life goals are fulfilled and feel happy. This research focuses on how someone with a hierarchical need motivated to meet all levels of needs is seen in Claire Maxwell in the novel My Summer of Magic Moments by Caroline Roberts. This study aims to find and explain the conditions of the main character after divorce and breast cancer to meet her hierarchy of needs seen from Abraham Maslow's theory. The method used in this research is descriptive qualitative and psychological approaches applied to analyse the psychological problems of the main characters. The results show that the main character, make various efforts to fulfilled the five level of her hierarchy of needs: Psychological needs, Safety needs, Love and belonging needs, Esteem needs, and Self-actualization needs. From the efforts to meet these needs, the main characters have motivations that encourage these needs to be achieved. And, the main character will feel the effects of whether or not these needs are met to her.
