

APPENDIX

I. NOUN

NO	DATA CODE	PAGE/ LINE	TEXT	WORD	LEXICAL COHESION
					SYNONYM	HYPONYM	ANTONYM
1.	N1	293/12	But hers was motherly love, a love born of affection and concern, and Daniel blossomed under Ruth's care.	Affection	✓
2.	N2	77/18	"...She would tell me that it was a sign that your heart was pure, that you formed deep attachment , and that once you loved something..."	Attachment	✓
3.	N3	11/25	She loved me with a passion , but I felt it in her expressions, in her touch, in the tender brush of her lips.	Passion	✓

4.	N4	199/11	...while Luke did a bit more of the outdoor work and mechanical repairs, more out of preference than anything else.	Preference		✓
5.	N5	151/19	"...But we became regulars. And since then, I get these cravings for it every now and then. Like tonight."	Craving		✓
6.	N6	208/04	She could sense the desire in his expression; she could feel in his embrace how much he wanted her to stay...	Desire		✓
7.	N7	174/29	...but I was content to keep them going, longing even in those moments for both a forgiveness of	Longing		✓

			the past and an acceptance ...
8.	N8	180/28	"...It was clear to me what you wanted. Your eyes were full of lust ."	Lust		✓
9.	N9	98/14	...and for the first time in his life, he sometimes finished his day yearning for someone to talk to over dinner, other than his mom.	Yearning		✓
10.	N10	191/09	Before dialling, he found it all too easy to imagine that she'd answer with only tepid enthusiasm .	Enthusiasm		✓
11.	N11	58/31	If one is hurt or sick, I try to take care of it right away.	Care		✓
12.	N12	96/01	For the first time in weeks, she couldn't hide her interest .	Interest		✓

13.	N13	220/29	Ruth, replaying these treasured memories, says nothing for a moment. Her gaze is earnest when she finally meets my eyes.	Treasure		✓
14.	N14	296/24	"I was looking for sympathy. "	Sympathy		✓
15.	N15	176/26	It was not the first kiss we'd ever shared, but in many ways, it has become my favourite , if only because it happened when I needed it most,	Favourite		✓
16.	N16	121/04	As he walked away, she studied him, trying to make sense of her undeniable attraction to him.	Attraction		✓
17	N17	144/31	Sophia took a deep breath and stepped	Attention		✓ into the parlour, feeling everyone's attention swing to her.

18.	N18	204/05	"...Or that she wouldn't show any emotion at all..."	Emotion		✓
19.	N19	126/23	We had just dropped our payload when a number of enemy fighters suddenly closed in.	Enemy			✓
20.	N20	127/17	I saw his eyes go wide in disbelief and his lips form my name.	Disbelief			✓
21.	N21	413/25	Whether it was a personal dislike or the fact that the loss of the ranch was getting closer to reality, Luke couldn't tell.	Dislike			✓
22.	N22	427/07	"...Ira believed in	Hate			✓

			good and evil, right and wrong, love and hate.... ”
23.	N23	45/17	There was anger in his expression and betrayal as well, and with that, he turned and started back toward the barn.	Betrayal			✓
24.	N24	145/14	...they just might get it into their heads to exact revenge .	Revenge			✓
25.	N25	147/12	She told him about her concerns about Brian and her suspicious about Mary-Kate.	Suspicion			✓
26.	N26	359/19	...turning his potential ride into some sort of grudge match.	Grudge			✓
27.	N27	283/21	“It was all the rage for a while you know...”	Rage			✓

II. VERB

NO.	DATA CODE	PAGE/ LINE	TEXT	WORD	LEXICAL COHESION
					SYNONYM	HYPONYM	ANTONYM
1.	V1	80/13	In the lengthening shadows, I see her watching me, this woman I have always adored .	Adore	✓
2.	V2	16/28	"I liked your face. You had kind face. Your ears just happened to come..."	Like		✓
3.	V3	83/17	That summer, the world had changed and I understood that any time I spent with Ruth should be regarded as precious.	Regard		✓
4.	V4	141/09	"But okay, I get it. You're different than me. And I respect that – I really do. I'm just glad you're done with Brian."	Respect		✓

5.	V5	221/10	With the exhibition closed, we devoted the next few days to activities more typical of newlyweds.	Devote		✓
6.	V6	310/25	He admired his mom's efforts with the Christmas trees and the pumpkins and expanding the herd....	Admire		✓
7.	V7	77/24	I wanted to believe that I'd won Ruth's heart on my own, and I said as much to her.	Believe		✓
8.	V8	63/18	For some reasons she trusted him, and not simply because he'd come to her aid.	Trust		✓
9.	V9	32/17	Everyone in the sorority revered Brian, and she knew for a fact that half the girls in the house would hook up with him given the	Revere		✓ slightest ...

10.	V10	174/06	For it is one thing to declare one's love for someone and quite another to accept that loving that person requires sacrificing one's dreams.	Accept		✓
11.	V11	23/28	"That's what I've been trying to do. But everywhere I go, he's there. I just don't understand why he won't leave me alone."	Understand		✓
12.	V12	40/12	"Because I need you. You're good for me. You make me a better person..."	Need		✓
13.	V13	24/15	"But I also get that he's been a crappy boyfriend who cheated on my roommate. Not just once or twice, but three times."	Cheat			✓

14.	V14	03/07	He refused to work on the Sabbath. He followed with interest the news regarding the founding of Israel ...	Refuse			✓
15.	V15	33/31	"Then just relax. ignore him. Hang with me and Ashley for a while.	Ignore			✓
16.	V16	38/05	...and if he hadn't been following her, she doubted she'd be thinking about him at all.	Doubt			✓

III. ADJECTIVE

NO.	DATA CODE	PAGE/ LINE	TEXT	WORD	LEXICAL COHESION
					SYNONYM	HYPONYM	ANTONYM
1.	A1	293/06	But I liked him from the beginning and grew more fond of him as the year progressed.	Fond	✓
2.	A2	147/01	As she did, she noticed a row of eager faces— including Marcia’s at the parlour windows.	Eager		✓
3.	A3	164/09	“...I thought it important that Brian be faithful . He was obviously operating under a different value system.”	Faithful		✓
4.	A4	444/07	“Let’s just say that they would like to	Loyal		✓ strengthen their relationship with a loyal customer who has suddenly come into means.”

5.	A5	224/17	“...But more than the work, I loved that you were willing to spend so much time doing what I loved...”	Willing		✓
6.	A6	215/16	“You could have been more romantic ,” she tells me, sulking.	Romantic		✓
7.	A7	90/12	She kisses me again before answering. “Because,” she says, her voice tender , “I am always with you, Ira.”	Tender		✓
8.	A8	82/09	“...Later, he told me that he had	Kind		✓ observed that you were not only hardworking and kind , but a gentleman as well.”

9.	A9	267/04	Her classes were stimulating , her grades were excellent, and even though she hadn’t heard from the	Stimulating		✓
10.	A10	266/07	in every painting I recall a chapter of our lives together. There is nothing more precious to me.	Precious		✓
11.	A11	52/14	“To be honest , I wasn’t paying too much attention. At the time...”	Honest		✓
12.	A12	224/06	To my eyes, she looks as stunning as she did on that	Stunning		✓

			last morning of the honeymoon, as we stood near the lake.
13.	A13	179/19	"...But you were interesting to my father—he was fascinated by your work as a navigator during the war..."	Fascinated		✓
14.	A14	307/14	My attorney, Howie Sanders, a dear friend to both Ruth and me...	Dear		✓
15.	A15	167/21	"Your mom sounds pretty amazing ."	Amazing		✓
16.	A16	240/06	Who was smart and charming , self-reliant and tender?	Charming		✓
17.	A17	138/23	"But you are special ," I insist.	Special		✓
18.	A18	76/05	"I wanted him to know my intentions were honorable ."	Honourable		✓

19.	A19	258/17	I am weak , so weak that even focusing on Ruth is difficult.	Weak			✓
20.	A20	96/17	In her own way, she was just as stubborn as he was.	Stubborn			✓
21.	A21	134/18	At the time, I didn't realize how selfish my actions were or how Ruth might have perceived them.	Selfish			✓
22.	A22	18/04	"I was jealous ."	Jealous			✓
23.	A23	154/03	He knew he could have gone with something safe – like the chicken or beef teriyaki she'd mentioned – but he was reluctant to do that.	Reluctant			✓
24.	A24	19/29	...nearly everyone thought Ruth's	Uncertain			✓

			father was not only overreacting but foolish to have given up everything for an uncertain future.
25.	A25	141/27	Marcia's face was incredulous . "How could you not talk about it?"	Incredulous			✓
26.	A26	189/22	"I'm still angry that you competed in those events, but I can't do anything about it now..."	Angry			✓
27.	A27	283/27	"...but it was still more than we could effort at the time and I remember being furious with him..."	Furious			✓