

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

Every person always has problem in his or her family which can cause a conflict in his or her life. This situation also happens in Johanna Lindsey's Brave The Wild Wind. In this novel, Thomas Blair faces intense conflicts with himself, his daughter, his wife, and Laton Bowdre. So he is in difficult situation and it makes him feel frustrated.

The first conflict is Thomas Blair's conflict with his daughter because Thomas's rearing to his daughter make Jessica suffer and he make his daughter style change as man style because he dreams like child son so that he can vengeance to his wife. He does treat daughter as like child son so that he make his daughter teaching about hoe horse, his daughter used clothes from man, he teaching Jessie hate her mother and take care livestock horse in the meadow near Indian. So, his daughter has a little respect to her mother as Thomas becomes a dominant figure in his life. Since Jessica's mother divorce Rachel does not stay with Thomas.

The second conflict is Thomas' conflict with Rachel about divorce because of Thomas Blair misunderstanding. Thomas always spends his time with work take care livestock horse and does not care his wife. Third is Thomas conflict with Laton Bowdre happens because gambling, debts and they have disagreement on the play card game. Then Thomas is dead because Laton Bowdre kills Thomas.

Based on the explanation above, it can be concluded that Thomas Blair has conflicts and he cannot deny it. It rises his emotion and him makes him frustated. After facing conflict in life, he gets satisfaction and has great changing to make a better life. On the other hand, conflicts have cause and effect that maycause him to suffer helplessness and anxiety. So it should be solved to make great changes.
