

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

From the seven types of love: Liking, Infatuated love, Romantic love, Companionate love, Fatuous love, Consummate love and Empty Love, the writer interprets that companionate love, liking, and romantic love exist in the character of the story. Love in Mia's family will show that companionate love happens there, then love between Adam and Mia will prove that romantic love exists in both characters, finally love between Kim and Mia will explain that liking is reflected in both of them.

Companionate love is shown between Mia and her parents. Mia's parents always support her carrier as a cellist. Her grandparents also support, her Gran carry her to Juilliard audition. When Mia feels nervous to play her cello in Juilliard audition, her father makes a joke until she does not feel it again. This love also shows Mia's love toward her little brother (Teddy), she always takes care of him. When Mia is in comma condition, her grandparents, uncle, and aunt support her to be alive. Her grandparents always make a conersation to her, that it is their effort to get her life. Although, they know that it is difficult.

Romantic love between Adam and Mia is reflected when Adam sees Mia playing cello in her practice. Adam interests with Mia because Mia is different than other girls. Mia shows her love to Adam by going to Yo-Yo Ma concern with him. When, Mia is in comma, Adam wants to visit Mia in ICU room; he does everything until he can come to ICU. Adam tries to be always beside her, his desire is the same like Mia's family desire. He wants Mia to keep alive, even he promises that he will do everything which Mia wants. If Mia wants Adam to go out from his band, he will do it. He plays Yo-Yo Ma music and he murmurs by asking Mia to be alive. Adam plays it because he knows that it is the best way and the best music to make Mia conscious.

Liking can be seen between Mia and Kim. They are really best friend until every people knows about their friendship. Sometimes, Mia comes to Kim's party every year. Usually best friend always wear the same color or mode of dress, they ever debate and it makes Mia angry. When they debate about a novel which is Mia's favorite, Kim has bad comment about that novel. That moment makes them for not chatting together but it does not happen for a long time. Mia also has close relationship with Kim's family. So when Mia is in comma, Kim's mother also feels sad when she knows about Mia's condition. Kim also prays for Mia, she thinks that she does not have best friend if Mia dies.
